WBC MUAYTHAI AMATUER / WBCMTA

WBCMTA rules are the approved rules for MuayThai Competitions internationally by the WBCMTA

All promotions sanctioned by the WBCMTA that include one off bouts are sanctioned as WBC events and utilize these rules for all one-off bouts, 4 - or 8 - man events.

Every nation has varied legislation, and the rules must be adapted for legal use/approval in each nation.

WBCMTA rules are to be utilized for any tournaments that are set for State and National Championships and selection events for international competition.

WBCMTA rules are based on the WBC Muaythai (World Boxing Council Muaythai) rules for adults.

This is overlaid with a class-based athlete system in order to ensure we have a progressive and safe development system from Novice to Professional.

These rules are for one-off matches, development shows, and routine competitions. Any deviation from these rules requires written permission from WBCMTA after consideration of the purpose and circumstances of the deviation.

National legislation and laws must always be followed and supersede all WBCMTA rule requirements.

WBCMTA is duty bound to promote Muaythai and therefore to lobby the government for permission to follow the rules of our sport.

All WBCMTA rules are to be utilized uniformly internationally.

These rules are for all classes of competition, and athletes including COMPETITOR (ELITE Class), (B-Class), NOVICE (C-Class).

Professional should refer to the professional rules for WBC Muay Thai.

For all JUNIOR competitions refer to our Junior Rules and Regulations.

Nations or regions without legislation should use Elite class for professional and B class for amateur delineation.

These rules are required for any WBCMTA endorsed promotion or competition. WBCMTA endorsement is contingent on the promotion always following these rules and government legislation.

WBCMTA is the sport of Muaythai with some rule adjustments for the safe and progressive development of both adults and juniors in Amateur competition.

*In a title contest when the champion cannot make weight or pass the physical examination or fails to show then his title will be declared vacant.

*If the champion is overweight (he/she loses the title on the scales) and the two fighters agree to fight, and the champion is beaten, then the challenger will be declared the new champion.

15.9. Cancellation of Contest:

- In case of ring damage, a riot from spectators, or an unexpected situation causing it impossible to continue the contest.

RULE 16: SCORING SYSTEM

16.1. When the fighter uses their fists, feet, knees, and elbows as effective and controlled MuayThai fighting weapons to attack their opponent powerfully, accurately, and according to the rules with effective and powerful techniques scoring higher than less effective strikes. The effective execution of any weapon will score higher than a less effective/timid execution of another weapon. The general standard for scoring the actions in a MuayThai match is to evaluate the quantity and quality of Scoring Strikes Landed, Effective Aggression and Ring Generalship (Control of the Actions). Officials are required to score each round with such criteria and to determine the winner of the round in numeric fashion. A competent judge should look for damage, domination and disruption while evaluating effective aggression, ring generalship and defense.

16.2. Scoring advantage is awarded to the Athlete who:

- Lands the cleaner and more effective strikes: Landing punches, elbows, knees, or kicks to the scoring area of their opponent with power, volume, and accuracy to cause damage, domination, or disruption to their opponent using more effective Muaythai strikes.
- Causes the most Damage: If a fighter is trying to hurt their opponent, evidence of damage should be considered, knocking the opponent down, staggering or off balancing the opponent, significant blows that slow the opponent's attacking prowess.
- Shows Domination: If a fighter is effectively controlling their opponent, evidence of domination to consider is, an overwhelming advantage in strikes landed, repeatedly initiating action during exchanges, repeatedly lands the last strike in exchanges.
- Causes the most Disruption: If a fighter is trying to prevent their opponent from hurting or controlling them, evidence of disruption to consider is, effective counter strikes that alter an opponent's strategy that force an opponent to grab, and hold, strikes that force an opponent into a defensive posture.
- Exhibits the most Effective Aggression: A forceful willingness to attack their opponent (either moving forward, backward or remaining stationary) where their strikes land accurately and forcefully on their opponent. *Remember, there is a fundamental difference between effective aggression and aggression.
- Shows the best Ring Generalship: Controlling the balance, pace, positioning, and style of the fight to a greater degree than that of your opponent.
- Has the best Defense: Displaying successful evasive maneuvers to avoid being hit and showcasing defensive mechanisms as part of an offensive strategy to attack your opponent and negate their attacks
- The Athlete who can cause more physical exhaustion loss of composure, disruption and damage to their opponent by use of Muaythai skill.
- The Athlete who violates the rules the least.

16.3. Scoring advantage is not awarded to:

- The Athlete who violates any rule.
- Muaythai strikes on the opponent's arm(s) or leg(s) as is their self-defense techniques. (That the strike to the arms is blocked and has no effect on the opponent balance, posture and does not score damage)
- The hit is light, without power or body weight behind it.

An Athlete is thrown on the ring floor after having their kick caught.

Throwing the opponent on the floor without using any Muaythai weapon.

A strike after the bell or after the referee has called break/stop.

A strike after a foul or using a foul to strike.

RULE 17: SCORING POINTS

17.1. 10 Point Must System

- The winner of a round must have 10 points
- The loser of a round will get 9, 8, 7, or a low of 6, depending on various factors in the round.
- If there is no clear winner, both fighters will get 10 points – if in doubt – score it even, point deductions by a referee for fouls in a championship fight are cumulated on the supervisor's master sheet
- A 10-10 score shall be given when a judge's mental computation at the end of the round is not clear enough to give a highly questionable round to either fighter.

*Just because you have been instructed against scoring even rounds, it would be unfair to a fighter to score a round in favor of the other fighter if your mental computer witnessed no difference.

- A 10-9 score shall be given in a round with a slight advantage in overall action favoring one fighter.
- A 10-9 score shall be given, also, when there is a clear advantage but not an overwhelming advantage.
- A 10-8 score shall be given when there is a knockdown, and the rest of the round is a very slight advantage for the fighter who scored the knockdown
- A 10-8 score shall be given when there is an overwhelming one-sided round; even without a knockdown, a real beating by one of the fighters over the other shall be always a 10-8 round
- A 10-9 score shall be given to fighter A when fighter B takes an eight-count, but B clearly and unquestionably wins the rest of the round, before and after the knockdown
- A 10-10 score shall be given when a knocked down fighter gets up and then knocks down his rival with the rest of the round, somehow even
- A 10-9 score should be given when both fighters are knocked down – but one of them wins the rest of the round

- A 10-7 score shall be given on two knockdowns of the same fighter – but always consider what happened before and after the knockdowns
- No round should be scored lower than 10-6 (e.g., Two 8 counts and a point deduction from a foul in one round)

17.2. Knock Down/8 Counts Scoring a 10-8 Round:

If the athlete receives an 8 count, one (1) point is deducted from that athlete. The point is deducted after the round has been scored. It must be kept in mind that in the developmental stage's referees will issue 8 counts for the safety of the athlete more often and do not always constitute a 10-8 round, only if it is clearly one sided.

- An athlete has won the round (10-9), their opponent has received an 8 count (1 point deduction). The final points of this round will be 10-8.
- An athlete has won the round 10-9, the athlete who won the round received an 8 count (1 point deduction). The round becomes 9-9 but as we have the 10-must system the final points of this round will be 10-10.

Scoring a 10-7 Round:

- An athlete has won the round (10-9), their opponent has received two (2) 8 counts. The final points of this round will be 10-7.
- An athlete has dominantly won the round (10-8), their opponent has received an 8 count (1 point deduction). The final points of this round will be 10-7.

17.3. Clinch scoring/ Scoring in the clinch

- MuayThai technique must land on target with power
- MuayThai technique must be effective, or it is not scored
- MuayThai technique must not have a foul or follow a foul

17.4. Clinch general

- where scoring clinching techniques are applied by one or both fighters, the clinch will be allowed to run.
- where both fighters are using a nonpowerful clinch technique, then the clinch will be stopped.

- if both fighters are working for a dominant clinch position without any striking, the clinch will be allowed to run for a period, if both fighters are working and not locking, holding, or being inactive.
- if both fighters cannot work to a dominant clinch position, the clinch will be stopped immediately.
- if one fighter applies an effective lock position, for a period, the clinch is stopped.
- if one fighter applies a successful defense technique where no more scoring techniques can be applied, the clinch is stopped.
- If one fighter has broken the others posture to an advantageous or unsafe position, the clinch is stopped immediately.

17.5. Warning/Foul

A point will be deducted when an athlete has received a warning (1 point deduction), the Referee will show the judges the offending foul.

- An athlete has won the round (10-9), their opponent has received a Warning (1 point deduction). The final points of this round will be 10-8.
- An athlete has won the round 10-9, the athlete who won the round received a Warning (1 point deduction). The round becomes 9-9 but as we have the 10-must system the final points of this round will be 10-10.

RULE 18: FOULS

If both Athletes cannot manage to stand up at the count of ten (10), the referee shall declare a 'draw.'

- In case the Athletes are trying to stand up, but have their arms or legs tangled, or one Athlete is on top of the other, the referee must stop the count and separate them. They shall then continue the count in case one of the Athletes is still on the ring floor.

SECTION 2 RULE 25: GENDER IDENTIFICATION

World Boxing Council Statement/Guidelines Regarding Transgender Athletes participation in professional Combat Sports

1. The World Boxing Council (WBC) firmly and unequivocally supports transgender rights and recognizes the gender identity of an individual athlete. This commitment is grounded in the WBC values of inclusion.
2. The WBC shall continue to champion to protect transgender individuals against discrimination at their workplace, in employment, education and access to healthcare.
3. The WBC is committed to its value of fair competition. A combat sport bout should occur between two equally matched competitors. At present there is no consensus whether a bout between a transgender woman against a cisgender (biological) woman is a fair bout between two equally matched competitors. Metrics such as testosterone level less than 10 nanomoles per liter (achieved by using testosterone suppression medication in the transgender woman), in isolation is inadequate to ensure fairness at the time of the bout. It can be argued that by the time a transgender woman combatant launches her professional career she has already gone through male puberty thus conferring her with the musculature and bony structure of a male. So, a transgender woman combatant may have an unfair advantage over her cisgender woman combatant.
4. The WBC is committed to its value of fair competition. A combat sport bout should occur between two equally matched competitors. At present there is no consensus whether a bout between a transgender man against a cisgender (biological) man is a fair bout between two equally matched competitors. Metrics such as testosterone level in isolation are inadequate to ensure fairness at the time of the bout. It can be argued that by the time a transgender man combatant launches his professional career he has already gone through female puberty thus conferring him with the musculature and bony structure of a female. So, a cisgender male combatant may have an unfair advantage over his transgender male combatant.

5. Combat sports such as boxing are unique since every punch thrown at the head is thrown with the intention of winning by causing a knockout (which is nothing but a concussive head injury). Resulting these sports carry an exceedingly high risk for both acute and chronic neurological injuries. Boxers have died during a bout or in the immediate aftermath due to traumatic brain injuries (TBIs) such as an acute subdural hematoma (SDH), epidural hematoma (EDH), subarachnoid hemorrhage (SAH), intracranial hematoma and injury to the great vessels of the neck such as carotid or vertebral artery dissection. The WBC advocates for two equally skilled and matched athletes competing in the cage or ring, on a level playing field and to keep matches fair, competitive, entertaining, and most importantly safe for all combatants. At present level of scientific knowledge, the WBC consensus is that allowing transgender athletes to compete raises serious health and safety concerns.

The WBC will keep researching with the leading professionals in healthcare to have a greater understanding of the matter and will keep looking for fairness in the sport and equality

| ELITE | 16+ | 3 x 3min 5 x 2min | 1min | Full Rules Muaythai |

Athletes are classed based on their experience but can compete in another class if the match is fair and local regulation is consistent with the match.

All registered competitors are in the Athlete Class system.

The Athlete Class system overlaps the Professional and Amateur system in all respects. The system runs in conjunction with or parallel to Combat Sports National, regional, or local legislation.

Where legislation requires registration of an athlete by Professional or Amateur status, that registration is to be based on the requirements of the class status by which an athlete wishes to compete.

Government requirements are to be followed but cannot be downgraded to fall below WBCMTA Athlete Class requirements.

National, Regional, or local WBCMTA bodies should have a database of registered athletes and to list which class each athlete is competing in. C-B-Elite class bouts are defined as the type of competition.

All athletes are required to start in C class.

C Class athletes can commence at B-class competition depending on experience, the match available and the competition.

The Class system is specific to WBCMTA and does not mirror the WBC International Tournament system. WBC International Tournament rules are for international elite competition tournaments

The system is designed as a developmental system. Elite-Class athletes should not step back to B-Class bouts, however B-class athletes can compete with an Elite-class and C-class can compete in B-Class in a fair match where legislation allows.

WBCMTA NATIONALS AND WBCMTA TOURNAMENTS Classes for WBCMTA National and State title events. may vary for each event as required for the fair conduct and matching of an event.

CHAMPIONSHIP DEFENSES & APPEALS

27.2 World Champions

World champions have an obligation to defend their titles within a period of six months, from the date of their first championship win, or from the date of their most recent championship defense. After the six-month period expires, a world champion will receive a further 60-day period of grace (at the sole discretion of The WBC MuayThai) in order to accommodate the champion to have a championship defense or for the champion or champion's representative to notify the WBC MuayThai of a planned title defense.

Upon or during the grace period of 60-days, should the WBC MuayThai not receive any communication from the champion or the champion's representative to notify of a planned defense, the WBC MuayThai has the right to vacate the relevant champion of their world title without any prior written or oral notice.

If a champion or champion's representative refuses a world title defense, The WBC MuayThai in its sole discretion has the right to immediately vacate a WBC MuayThai world champion of their status as world champion.

27.3 International Champions

International champions have six months from the day they win their title, to either defend their championship or notify the WBC MuayThai of a confirmed title defense (within a reasonable timeframe), failure to do so allows the WBC MuayThai to vacate the champion at any time thereafter the six-month period, without prior written or oral notification.

It is the responsibility of a champion or champions representative to communicate to the WBC MuayThai head office or a WBC MuayThai representative their intention to defend their title before the expiration of the six-month period.

27.4 Regional champions

All regional champions may keep their title for a period of 6 months, with a further 2-month notification of the planned defense period.

When the 6-month period expires, a regional, national, or state champion must notify the local WBC

MuayThai representative of a planned defense. If no direct communication takes place, from the champions team to the local WBC MuayThai representative, the WBC MuayThai, or an authorized person acting on behalf of the WBC MuayThai has the right to vacate the title without any prior written or verbal notice, 8 months from the date of a champion winning their title.

27.5 Champions Belt

A champion, when defending his/her WBC MuayThai belt, must bring their belt to the weigh-in for publicity and must bring their belt to the ring for the fight – for the duration of the fight the belt will be kept with the WBC MuayThai fight supervisor.

Should a defending champion lose their title in the contest, the belt will be presented to the new champion in the ring, for the purpose of publicity, only, the belt will be returned to a losing champion immediately after the publicity photos are completed on the day of the fight. All new champions will receive a new belt from the WBC MuayThai within one month of winning a title. The promoter of a WBC MuayThai championship is responsible for purchasing a new champion's belt.

A defending champion is not entitled to receive a new belt when they make a successful title defense, however, upon request, a promoter may purchase a new belt for a successful defending champion, however, this belt is a replica, as only when a vacant title is won on more than one occasion is a champion then recognized a multi-time WBC MuayThai champion.

No fighter can contest for a WBC MuayThai championship contest having fought inside of 30-days before the scheduled date for a WBC MuayThai championship contest, on the grounds of safety – any fighter violating this rule automatically gives the WBC MuayThai the right to revoke sanctioning for a WBC MuayThai championship when a fighter takes a fight inside the 30days period of contesting for a WBC MuayThai championship.

Any fighter being considered for a WBC MuayThai championship who has lost their most recent fight via KO or TKO within 90days of the proposed date for a WBC MuayThai championship must undergo a full medical exam by a registered physician, be fully cleared by a locally registered physician (documentation of clearance to be provided to the WBC MuayThai) before any consideration is given by the WBC MuayThai to sanction a bout.

Post Knockout/Technical Knockout Examinations. To protect the health and welfare of fighters, a fighter who has been knocked out (KO) or (TKO) must undergo a medical examination as quickly as possible after the bout.

Such examinations should be conducted under the authority of the local combat sports commission where the bout occurred, the fighter's local commission, or any medical authority approved by the WBC MuayThai.

The following examinations should be conducted on a fighter who suffers a knockout, technical knockout, or other circumstance in which the fighter has sustained extraordinary severity of blows in a contest: a physical examination, but not limited to include a complete neurological examination, MRI/CAT Scan, or any other medical examination or tests recommended by the WBC MuayThai medical advisory board, or the attending fight physician, or local combat sports commission medical requirements.

Rest Periods after Knockout. Fighters that suffered a concussion or any other serious trauma or injury by knockout should not participate in sparring sessions for a minimum of 45 days and no less than 30 days after any other concussive trauma, including but not limited to knockout.

No fighter will be allowed to fight for a WBC MuayThai title should they lose via TKO within 45-days of a proposed WBC MuayThai title contest. The minimum 60-day suspension after suffering a KO will be enforced.

No fighter should be approved to fight for any WBC MuayThai title bout should that fighter have a fight scheduled to take place before the date of a proposed WBC MuayThai title bout, as the outcome of any impending fight may affect the sanctioning of the upcoming WBC MuayThai title contest on the grounds of medical safety.

WBCMTA can sanction/approve amateur and professional State and National title Bouts. All titles for one-off events are WBC Titles. State and National Championships (tournaments) will determine the WBCMTA Champion in each division.

RULE 29: TOURNAMENT GUIDELINES

Class combinations or levels can be adjusted by WBCMTA depending on entrants and available pool of athletes. The priority is fair matching based on record, ability, and experience.

Tournaments may also follow a seeded draw to ensure matches are fair and allow athletes a fair chance to progress. Athletes can then progress through the event after performing (proving themselves) in their first round.

Even in an open draw tournament seeding can be approved by WBCMTA Executive to allow for fair matches. For example, if there are only 4 entrants, 1 can compete with 3 and 2 can compete with 4 to give the top 2 ranked athletes a fair shot at the championship.

If there are only 3 athletes, the top ranked athlete should be given preference to go to the final, so the other athletes must earn the right to compete for the championship. Seeding may be done inside a class or overall.

Classes for these events are determined to promote participation in the competitions. To have a fair tournament for all that includes a developmental system of development.

Rules for National Tournaments are WBCMTA rules.

WBCMTA OVERVIEW

WBCMTA is the international sporting organization for WBC Muaythai Amateur and has a unified international set of rules. The class base system is an effective way to manage athlete pathways and develop a system that allows for a stronger base and quality Professional athletes.

Amendments can be made based on the regional local governing body regulations or laws but must be submitted to WBC Muay Thai headquarters in Bangkok for approval and record keeping purposes.

This ruleset should give more options to a promoter and make WBCMTA a more attractive body for promoters.

The class base registration and athlete system are an enhancement to a rule-based system. It is an effective way to grow a true international sport and represent WBCMTA to local, state and National legislators. It is critical to the National Sports Commissions that WBCMTA appears as a national sport and this system meets that criterion. Above all, it is about developing athletes, creating a clear progression model and keeping them safe as they progress.

State registration requirements and legislation will always make our national approach varied; however, WBCMTA MUST set the agenda and not have it set for them. The aim is to take ownership of our sport.

The policies and regulations of WBCMTA are the base standard for all WBCMTA events.

WBCMTA requirements are the minimum standard for all Nations.

National and Regional legislation supersedes WBCMTA requirements on a case-by-case basis, however, do not alter the minimum requirements of WBCMTA.

Individual legislation can determine the registration requirements and conditions of an athlete, but that applies to that region only and does not make it a mandatory requirement for other regions or influence WBCMTA policies and rules as an international organization.
